

2.2.15

Na and the Gazelle

FA, ' In the Savannah, the Acacia trees were swishing. complex sentence ✓ The land was all dry ^{with} and haybales floating everywhere. plants never lasted long. The sun was gleaming and boiling hot, no sign of water, everything was really dry. The trees Excellent description of the scene. were surrounding the animals for shade. The river, which was gentle and calm, flowed through the Savannah. Rocky land was as bumpy as a road with rocks on. The trees were dying out from relative clause ✓ the lack of ^{rain} water not falling.

2 Na's best friend's dad set the youngest ones a challenge and speech well ✓ he calmly told them "Your challenge is to find the punctuated. most fearsome and amazing creature so they can be a Maasi Maasi relative clause ✓ Gibe leader. I will give you 2 weeks to complete this task.
Na, who was brave and proud of herself, sets off to find the animal she wants to find. She wanted to find hunt for a extended sentence ✓ gazelle, which was a tough thing to do because gazelle's are really hard to catch. She had been travelling for 2 hours from when she had left her beloved home. She was dreaming that she had past good short ✓ the cool watering hole but she hadn't. She had travelled for sentence another whole day and finally, she had reached it. But she was very thirsty so she got some refreshing and cool water in her bottle. Then she saw this baby Building the event up slowly. zebra wanting some water and she gave it to him and as if he hadn't had any thing for days. One zebra looked drawing me in. so muddy like it has been in the wateringhole and playing with it was swishing it's tail, to get all the flies away. Na had been travelling for another whole 2 days she felt hungry and tired but she didn't give up she was being resilient. She knew she wanted to be queen so she kept on going but the she came across this huge Akatic Ocean. she made a boat and rowed to go across the ocean. But when she went she saw thousands of...
Did she get back off the boat? yes

3 Gazelle everywhere. she didn't know which one to hit with her sting shot. Finally, she found one. She crouched on the dry grass peeked spied and aimed at the gazelle. 3VPU! Very good. 2ff great drama well phrased great adj's Tension. Short sentences Humanising - engaging the reader. Na was gulping like crazy and afraid to kill it, but eventually her hand slipped and she shot the poor gazelle. She stepped back to see what was going to happen. The gazelle moaned and groined in pain. There was silence. No noise. All of the gazelles whimpered and cried they were sad to see their family members passed away.

4 Na went to the watering hole with the gazelle. She cleaned it and said to the gazelles ashamedly "I am so sorry that I hurt your member I thought he was alto alone". They said did their respects and buried its body. The she travelled on home - she gave them something to remember the gazelle. On the way home she saw her friend and they walk home together.

5 Finally, they had reached ^{home,} everyone was excited to see what they had brought home once the family had seen it. The Maasi tribe and he announced the winner, which is "Na congratulations" you did well". That night they all had a party and a big cake that said "congratulations Na you've achived your challenge."

To be continued

What a fantastic adventure story! I've really enjoyed reading this, you've got a great story telling manner and included imagery with a wide range of description. Good tension with lots

Na and the Gazelle

In the savannah, the acacia trees were swishing. The land was all dry with hay bales floating everywhere, plants never lasted long. The sun was gleaming and boiling hot, there was no sign of water, and everything was really dry. The trees were surrounding animals for shade. The river, which was gentle and calm, flowed through the savannah. Rocky land was as bumpy as a road with rocks on. The trees were dying out from the lack of rain water not falling.

Na's best friend's dad set the youngest ones a challenge and he calmly told them "your challenge is to find the most fearsome and amazing creature so t they can be the Maasi tribe leader. I will give you 2 weeks to complete this challenge". Na, who was brave and proud of herself, sets off to find the animal she wants to find. She wanted to hunt for a gazelle, which was a tough thing to do because gazelle's are really hard to catch. She had been traveling for 2 whole hours from when she had left her beloved home. She was dreaming that she reached the watering hole but she hadn't, she had been traveling for another 2 whole days .Finally ,she had reached the watering hole but when she got there she was exhausted and thirsty she got some refreshing and cool water in her bottle. Then she saw this baby zebra wanting some water and she gave it some water, she gave it to him as he hadn't had anything for days. One zebra looked so muddy like it has been in the watering hole and playing there, it was swishing its tail, to get rid of all the flies. Na had been traveling for another whole 2 days she felt tired but she didn't give up she was being resilient. She knew that she wanted to be queen so she kept on going but then she came across this huge Atlantic Ocean. She made a boat and rowed to go across the Ocean but when she went she saw thousands of Gazelles everywhere she didn't know which one to hit with her sling shot. Finally, she found one she crouched on the dry grass peeked spied and aimed at the Gazelle. Na was gulping like crazy and afraid to kill it but eventually her hand slipped and she shot the poor Gazelle. She stepped back to see what was going to happen. The Gazelle moaned and groaned in pain. There was silence. No noise. All of the gazelle whimpered and cried to see their family member pass away.

Na went to the watering hole with the gazelle she cleaned it up and told the gazelles ashamedly "I am so sorry that I hurt your family member I thought that he was alone ". They did their respects and buried its body. Na travelled on home. She gave them something to remember the gazelle on the way home she saw her friend and they walked home together.

Finally, they had reached home everyone was excited to see what they had brought home once the family had seen it the old Maasi tribe had to see and decide who is the new Maasi tribe leader. The Maasi tribe leader came out and announced the winner, which is Na!

"Congratulations you did well" That night they had a party and a big cake saying Congratulations Na you've achieved your challenge!"

