

Answer the questions

RECALL

1. What is your poem about?
2. Why did you decide to write about this thing?
3. Are you happy with your poem?

LO: TO WRITE THE FINAL VERSION OF YOUR POEM.

Some will even explain what language features they added to their poem.

Some will write down different language features from their poem.

Most will make some improvements and write them in the table.

All will read their poem and fill in the table with its grammatical features.

GUIDED PRACTICE

Today you will edit your poem and write the final version, which you will post on the Class Dojo.

INTELLIGENT PRACTICE

On the next page you will need to fill a similar table about your poem. Look at my example of the table to go with the poem "Pencil". As you can see I didn't have to add too many things but it might be different for you.

Stage	Seeing	Hearing	Feeling	Touching	Shape
Draft	Tall, beautiful, green	No sound	Amazing,	I press you to the paper	It's in a shape of a pencil.
Final version			unique

INTELLIGENT PRACTICE

Read your poem and fill in the table in a similar way I did it for my poem.

Stage	Seeing	Hearing	Feeling	Touching	Shape
Draft
Final

INTELLIGENT PRACTICE

There's another table with language features that you included in your poem. Look at my example.

Stage	Similes	Metaphors	Repetition	Adverbs	Positive adjectives
Draft	Like a magical wand	No metaphors	You are	No adverbs	Amazing, awesome,
Final version		You are a messenger

When I look at my table, I cannot see any adverbs or metaphors so I would like to add some. Now I will be looking at the two tables and will edit my poem.

INTELLIGENT PRACTICE

Now fill in this table about your poem.

Stage	Similes	Metaphors	Repetition	Adverbs	Positive adjectives
Draft
Final version

INTELLIGENT PRACTICE

Look at your answers and start writing your poem. Make sure you follow your answers. All the changes I wrote in the tables, I also included in the poem.

I am holding you in my hand,
I press you to the paper,
You are like a magical wand,
I can make magical tricks
You are my messenger with the readers around the world.
You are writing letters, words sentences, paragraphs, stories.
You once were an awesome tree,
A tall, beautiful, green tree.
Now, you are still amazing,
But not as unique,
You're just my pencil.
