

The Bully

Tom put his hand over his face to cover it and began to tremble.

Gripper's face turned red. He scrunched his hands into two boulders and looked like he was going to ram Tom.

Tom flattened himself to a wall, hoping Gripper wouldn't notice his teeth chattering against each other. Tom thought he was safe until he heard Gripper's heavy footsteps. Tom felt a shiver run down his spine. Gripper was face to face with Tom, so that Tom could smell his heavy and foul breath.

Tom ran as fast as he could to a group of people and hid in the crowd. His face was very pale, as if he had just seen something beastly.
