

Recall

Today, you will read the final part of the story. First, have a go at this recall question. Put these nine sentences in the order that they happened. You can go back and read all the parts again before you have a go at this question.

Sebastian lifted Viola high into the air, while Olivia and the sailor looked on open-mouthed. ___

Orsino unpinned a brooch and handed it to Viola. ___

Since Sir Andrew was a bachelor, Sir Toby had decided that he would make the perfect husband for his niece, Olivia. ___

Viola decided she would be safer if she disguised herself as a young man, so she tied up her hair, dressed in clothes that she took from her brother's trunk and called herself Cesario. ___

When Viola entered the garden, Olivia pretended to be interested in the blossoms on a rose bush and gave Orsino's new messenger no more than a glance. ___

In the bushes, Sir Andrew quivered with rage. ___

Malvolio peevishly stamped his foot and threw the ring to the ground. ___

Viola found herself falling in love with Orsino and it was painful to keep her feeling a secret. ___

Draw your sword, vile scoundrel!" snarled Sir Andrew. ___

Twelfth Night (a Shakespeare story): Part 10

Duke Orsino waited two anxious hours for Cesario to return and at last he lost his patience. He called for his fastest horse and galloped to Olivia's house. In the hall he was met with the strangest sight – Cesario and Olivia, arm in arm, and behind them, a smiling priest holding a bible.

"Cesario, release that lady," Orsino thundered.

This is not Cesario, my lord," Olivia beamed. "This is Sebastian, who will soon be my husband. If you seek the one you called Cesario, look behind you!"

Orsino turned and saw Viola, wearing a dress that Olivia had lent her. She looked so lovely that she took Orsino's breath away and he instantly fell head over heels in love with her.

And so there was a double wedding in the house of Countess Olivia, and that night the windows were bright with lights, and the air was filled with the sounds of music and celebration.

For this last part of the story put these events in the order that they happened (1-5):

Orsino rode to Olivia's house. ___

Musicians played at the two weddings. ___

Orsino fell in love with Viola. ___

Orsino was waiting for Cesario. ___

Sebastian and Olivia stood arm in arm. ___

Dive Deeper

Were there any hidden messages in this story? Do you think Shakespeare was teaching you anything about life and how we should treat people?

Picante Challenge

Next year, you will be studying other stories written by Shakespeare. To help prepare yourself for being in year 6, can you find ten facts about Shakespeare's life or his other stories/plays?